DISARM YOUR NAME

War Tax Resistance (WTR) is an act of Civil Disobedience founded in the belief that our taxes should be used to support the flourishing of all people. Indigenous people used WTR against colonial governments. Some famous WTRs include Henry David Thoreau and Gandhi. It's not just a historical movement, War Tax Resistance is relevant today!

The current military spending in our federal budget is 58% of the total (credit for calculation to War Resisters League).

That's not much pie left to share!

Ideas for war tax resisters:

- 1) Send a letter to the IRS explaining the moral reasons you want to refuse to pay.
- 2) Live below the federal taxable income.
- 3) File your taxes, but refuse to pay $10.40, 58% of the total, or all!
- 4) Pay your taxes in tiny amounts by snail mail throughout the year.
- 5) Do what you can to slow down the process of filing and draw attention to the ways you want your taxes to help your community flourish!
